About the Huntington Area

Convention and Visitors Bureau

entered on the notion of Southern hospitality, The Huntington Area Convention & Visitors Bureau (CVB) serves as the primary point of contact for those traveling to the region. The CVB, representing Cabell and Wayne counties, distributes travel inspiration, tips and advice to current and future visitors.

The CVB anchors Heritage Station, a historic train depot that is home to The Red Caboose Regional Artisan Center. The Red Caboose is an icon in downtown Huntington and a can't-miss stop for both locals and visitors. The shop features locally made ceramics, glass pieces, fine art, natural bath products, jewelry, artisan foods and other one-of-a-kind items.

Stop by for a visit. Browse West Virginia treasures and chat with a staff member to learn how to experience H-town like a local!

THE METRO VALLEY

(re)defined.

Huntington / Cabell County

Some places feel like home as soon as you arrive. Huntington, or H-town, as we like to call it, is one of those places. We're true to our roots while embracing new ideas and fresh perspectives. Here, you'll find exceptional dining experiences, comfortable lodging, diverse shops, ample attractions and recreational activities. Top it off with a touch of old-fashioned Southern hospitality, and you've got an area that is redefining the everyday.

A bustling downtown anchors H-town. Meet up with friends, see a movie, go shopping, grab a bite to eat or attend a local event. Stop by Pullman Square, a center for activity with its lively retail, dining and entertainment spaces. Stroll over to The Market to sample the local cuisine. Another multi-use complex, it offers everything from coffee and fresh juice to made-to-order personal pizza and homemade ice cream. Or wander a little further down the street for a classic comfort meal of burgers and brews at The Peddler.

Take in the history of H-town with a visit to Heritage Station. This former train depot has been repurposed and is now home to the Huntington Area Convention & Visitors Bureau and The Red Caboose Regional Artisan Center as well as several unique, local businesses that include a bakery/ cafe, custom candle store, ceramic studio and gift shop, taproom and more.

Soak in H-town's robust art scene with a trip to the Huntington Museum of Art. Here, you'll find special exhibits and collections along with a number of workshops and classes. The museum even houses the state's only plant conservatory, featuring tropical and subtropical plants. Catch a Marshall Artists Series show at the Keith Albee Performing Arts Center and be left in awe by the beauty of the grand old theater and on-stage talent.

Ritter Park's nationally recognized Rose Garden contains thousands of plants, including more than 200 varieties of roses.

Enjoy a breath of fresh air at one of H-town's lovely local parks. Ritter Park's nationally recognized Rose Garden contains thousands of plants, including more than 200 varieties of roses. Just a short drive away, Beech Fork State Park is known for its miles of shoreline — perfect for fishing — and cool waters where you can boat, swim, kayak and paddleboard. Go back in time with a visit to Heritage Farm. This living history museum showcases Appalachian culture and is West Virginia's first Smithsonian affiliate.

No trip to H-town would be complete without visiting Marshall University, the heart of the city. Pick up a map at the Visitors Center and take the self-guided "We Are Marshall" tour to see the beloved school's campus — including the Memorial Fountain, a tribute to those who lost their lives during the 1970 tragedy — and surrounding community highlighted in the 2006 feature film.

With all that H-town offers, it's easy to see how we're redefining the traditional getaway.

Barboursville Park

Barboursville

Whether you're into the outdoors or more of the “shop ‘til you drop” type, Barboursville is the place to be. Along with the village’s quaint Main Street, it is also home to a 750-acre park — complete with hiking trails, sports fields, a fishing lake, picnic areas and other activities — and the Huntington Mall, West Virginia’s largest shopping mall with more than 150 stores, restaurants, hotels and entertainment options.

Milton

Down the road from Huntington, the small town of Milton welcomes thousands of visitors each fall for the annual West Virginia Pumpkin Festival. But with its charming boutiques, delicious comfort food and convenient campground, as well as the acclaimed Blenko Glass Company and popular Milton Flea Market, this quiet, cozy community has a lot to offer throughout the year.

Wayne County

From Kenova's world-famous Pumpkin House to the forests of Cabwaylingo and the waters of Beech Fork Lake, get acquainted with Wayne County.

Hungry? Have a meal at one of the area's long-standing staples. Savor Italian specialties at Rocco's Ristorante in Ceredo or flavorful slices from Evaroni's Pizza in Kenova. For dessert, order a thick malt from Griffith & Feil Soda Fountain or a scoop of grape-pineapple from Austin's Homemade Ice Cream.

Wayne County is a great place to play. Relive childhood with a stroll down the Midway and a ride on The Big Dipper at Camden Park. Outdoor enthusiasts can keep boredom at bay with an ATV ride or zipline tour at Rustic Ravines, a hike at Cabwaylingo — one of West Virginia's first state parks — or a fishing trip at East Lynn Lake.

Redefine your next retreat with a visit to Wayne County, a destination with plenty to discover.

LaFontaine's Rooftop Lounge

irst-rate flavors, creative dishes and one-of-a-kind local dining concepts — take your taste buds on a journey through Huntington’s thriving food scene. From specially crafted cocktails to decadent desserts, our menus are anything but ordinary. Share a tapas-style meal with friends or enjoy a date night out on a rooftop bar. With iconic drive-ins, authentic eateries, casual hangouts and upscale restaurants, there’s a dining experience for everyone in H-town.

Appalachian Up!

Heritage Farm is a celebration of Appalachian ingenuity and culture.

West Virginia's only Smithsonian Affiliate shares the story of our past through our seven museums, resident artisans, period re-enactors, cozy log cabins, native animals and special events. Built on the mountain overlooking the village, Talihakoum is an amazing aerial challenge course over four stories tall. Our newest addition is Mountain Rim, our new mountain bike park.
